Green gardens add value to your property and are the envy of every neighbourhood. But with climate change, water is becoming a scarce resource. Australia is the driest continent on the planet . . . and we're getting dryer. Today's challenge is to become smarter with water usage. GreyMate meets this challenge by collecting grey water and intercepting impurities. This used water is now ready to benefit your garden via sub-surface irrigation.

- Universal sub Surface Irrigation kit available
